HKU CS Research Internship Programme

In the summer of 2015, HKU Computer Science Department will launch a Research Internship Programme accepting a maximum of 20 outstanding computer science undergraduate students from Mainland China or other overseas countries. Selected students will receive a stipend of around HK$12,500 for this internship which will last for 1.5 months. This programme aims to provide student interns an opportunity to engage in research. The tentative period of this programme is from July 16, 2015 to August 31, 2015. Each intern will be matched to a research project which is supervised by a professor, and is required to give a presentation on the project outcomes at the end of his/her internship.

Eligibility:
• Current Year 2 or Year 3 undergraduate students who are studying computer science or a related discipline at universities in Mainland China or other overseas countries may apply.

Important Dates:
• Application Deadline: 5:00pm, April 10, 2015
• Notification of Results: April 16 (+- 2 days), 2015
• Start Date of Internship: July 16, 2015

Special Note on Visa Application:
A student who is admitted to this programme should apply for a “training visa” through the Hong Kong Immigration Department. Each applicant is required to provide an official stamped supporting letter from the student’s home institution which clearly states that the institution supports his/her training in HKU, and the student is prepared to return to the institution to continue his/her study after completion of the training in HKU. Please make sure your school will be able to provide such a letter before you apply. A tourist visa is not acceptable. For more information, please read the Guidebook for Entry for Training in Hong Kong. (http://www.immd.gov.hk/en/services/hk-visas/training/guidebook.html)
